

Al Edge and Knobals

Al-Edge is an environmentally friendly replacement for lead edging and lead edged flashings. It is manufactured from soft aluminium and is compatible with most roof materials including prepainted and plain Zincalume, Galvalume, Galvanised, also Aluminium, Zinc and concrete tiles.

Al-Edge is primarily designed to be seamed into ridge flashings, or head and apron flashings to seal the roofing profile from wind and rain, just as lead has been used in the past. This process can be carried out either by roll forming or by break pressing edges together.

The Knobal

Turns your hammer into a soft headed ball peen hammer for moulding Al-Edge strip into roof profiles.

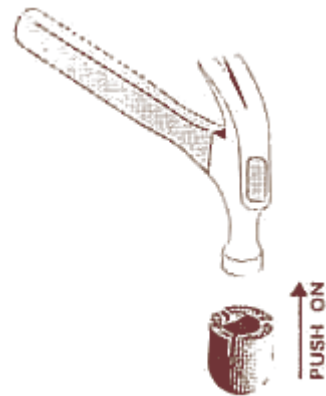

THE KNOBAL is cylindrical in shape with one rounded dome end, the other square to the cylinder face but recessed to fit the head of varying sizes and types of claw hammer.

When attached to the claw hammer, THE KNOBAL effectively turns the hammer into a soft headed ball peen hammer specifically for moulding AL-EDGE strip into roofing profiles.

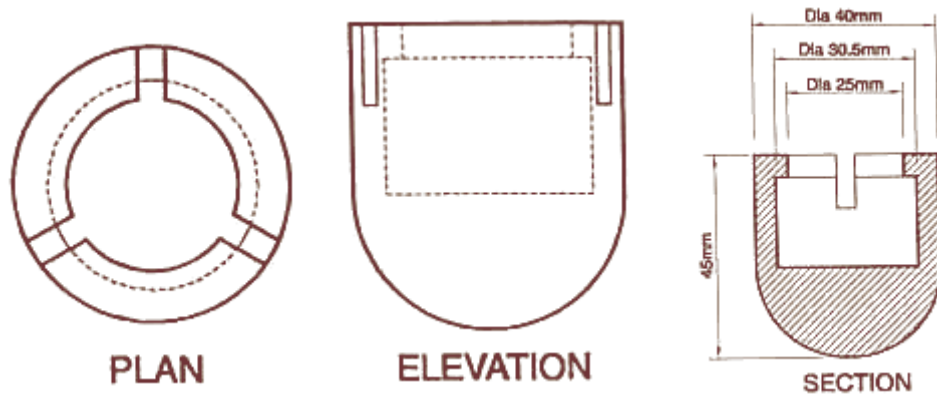

THE KNOBAL is available in one size only. The basic overall size is 40mm diameter and 45mm in length. The weight is 50 gms.

THE KNOBAL is manufactured from Black Rubber.

THE KNOBAL is available from any Calder Stewart Roofing Sales Office.
